MANY DRIVE ON WRONG SIDE OF HIGHWAYS

Figures Show Over 10% of Accidents Are Due
To This Cause

FAST PASSING, ALSO

By Dr. Walter A. Cutler,
Administrative Assistant, Center
for Safety Education, New York University

(This is the third of a series of 10 articles on street and highway safety, written by nationally recognized accident prevention specialists and published by this newspaper in the interests of greater traffic safety.)

The latest available figures indicate that more than ten per cent of the motorists involved in all fatal accidents were driving on the wrong side of the road. On rural highways, about 13 out of every 100 fatal accidents can be attributed to passing too fast, too soon, too late or with too little thought.

The inherent risk involved in passing is the unknown. Vertical curves, hills or a roadway may restrict vision and hide vehicles just beyond the area of vision; horizontal curves often conceal what lies ahead, and approaching vehicles frequently blend deceptively with the background.

RECOUNT TREASURES

DOYLESTOWN, May 3—Although the Bucks County Historical Society is but 68 years old, it is already filled with 266 years of dramatic, historical events, reflected in the thousands of manuscripts on file here.

The speaker is at present engaged in cataloging all the manuscripts of the society.

"The treasures that I have found, are not of gold, silver or of jewels; they far transcend such earthly things," the speaker said. ## A LOCALITE IS INJURED

Victor L. Baxter, Radcliffe Street, Involved In Crash Here

With fine spring weather prevailing over the week-end, motorists were on the highways by the thousands Saturday and Sunday. By Sunday midnight State Police at Langhorne barracks had recorded numerous accidents on various thoroughfares in lower Bucks county, with several injured treated at hospitals and physicians' offices.

Seven were listed as injured in five accidents by officers at Langhorne barracks of the state police.

A Bristolian is among those hurt, he being Victor L. Baxter, of 510 Radcliffe street. Baxter, it is stated, was operating a coupe east on Route 13. He is said to have crossed to the opposite side of the highway near Bristol, and struck a sedan operated by Edwin J. Hogan, of 2800 block of Hale street, Philadelphia, travelling in the opposite direction. Mrs. Hogan, wife of the driver, was treated at Harriman Hospital for multiple lacerations and then discharged. Baxter, taken to the same institution, was treated for lacerations of the forehead. Bucks County Rescue Squad transported the two. The accident occurred Saturday at 9.10 p. m.

What is believed to be the first accident to occur at the dead-end of the super-highway, east of Langhorne borough, since that section was closed to east-bound traffic, took place at 2.15 a. m. Saturday. A sedan was being operated in the wrong direction on the one-way section, by John P. DeGulicic, of 637 Tenth street, Brooklyn, N. Y. ### IS PAIN NECESSARY?

It is confusing to read of one-year-old Beverly Smith, who will never be able to feel pain. Should people be glad for her or sorry? Pain is not popular, but it has its uses. Little Beverly is already a trial to her parents because she goes around bumping her head and burning her hand and thinking nothing of it. If she gets appendicitis, how will they know? If she breaks a leg, she may injure herself badly because there will be no pain to warn her to lie still.

If she misbehaves, her parents will not be able to use spanking as a method of controlling her. Scientists say that if pain were not useful, evolution would have eliminated it.

But most persons, without engaging in deep thought, are convinced pain is a bad thing. Most of it serves no useful purpose that they can see. Anesthetics have been invented to quell it. Pain causes suffering, neurosis, shock. And in other cases, where it could be a valuable aid to early diagnosis of some dreaded disease, it gives no warning until the condition becomes incurable.

The threshold of pain varies sharply in individuals. Whether little Beverly's painlessness proves to be a handicap or a blessing (it is incurable in either case) will depend on how well she becomes adjusted to it. But many persons will be envious of her.

NOURSE LOOKS AHEAD

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Board of Economic Advisers, sounded more optimistic than otherwise when he addressed the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington.

The country, said Dr. Nourse, will enjoy several years of prosperity unless the war scare grows worse. The recession which has been predicted for many months may not come at all because of the foreign aid and rearmament programs. Hopes of avoiding runaway inflation are brighter because of recent developments, including the coal truce, good crop prospects and strategic price cuts.

In fact, Dr. Nourse seemed less concerned about the inflation danger than might have been expected. When he said that a sag in business activity might have come this year but for the Marshall Plan and more spending for arms, he implied that the economy can bear the additional burden without too great strain.

He admitted that spending for foreign aid and for arms, if maintained at a high level over a long period, can have grave consequences. They can have the effect of reducing the real earnings of the people even if inflation is held in check. The hope is that European nations will recoup some of their strength and thus reduce the need for a huge military establishment in this country.

Scientist who says man's cranium is gradually growing larger does not explain what man has to be big-headed about.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Mar. 3, 1898. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The Langhorne Trolley Company has authorized an increase of capital stock from $100,000 to $200,000 in order to be able to extend the road if any of several trolley movements by other parties now talked about shall come to pass.

Joseph R. Grundy returned to Bristol last Saturday evening after a four months absence in Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceania.

TULLYTOWN—Robert Lee of Duck Island, has purchased the property known as the Isalah Woolston farm from Amos B. Headley. Mr. Lee's son expects to occupy the premises about the first of April.

The daily papers... for the past few days have been publishing full accounts of the two horrible murders that have taken place in Bucks County during the past week. The first occurred on last Thursday morning, when Adam Weaver, in resisting arrest by Constable Ather-Edwin, shot and instantly killed Mondeau. Erwin Mondeau and Israel Moser, shot and instantly killed Mondeau. Erwin Mondeau, the dead man, was a farmer near Bursonville. The county commissioners have offered a reward of $1000 for the capture of the murderer.

Miss Annie L. Edwards, who lived alone at Jamison, a short distance from Doylestown, was murdered some time between seven o'clock Friday evening and the same hour Monday morning, when her body was found in her bedroom. Her assailant using a water pitcher for raining the cruel blows upon her head, and in her left arm was a bullet wound extending almost from the wrist to the elbow. As soon as the county commissioners learned of the tragedy they

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Sound Suggestion

Washington, May 3. AMONG the graver defects in our system is the apparent inability of the Federal Government to function competently in a crisis. This, of course, was proven in World War I, and even more convincingly in World War II. It is true we won both those great struggles. And, after each we promptly flapped our wings, loudly crowing about the "superb job" we had done, though every informed man knew that the cost in American lives and American dollars had been far greater than it should have been.

ESPECIALLY was this so of the last war because in that, for indefensible reasons we rejected the hard-bought experience of the first and refused to profit by its demonstrated mistakes. Now, hardly three years since the shooting ended, in an effort to avert a third world war, the possibility of which is conceded by all, we are embarking upon a foreign policy involving sums of a magnitude and perils of a proportion greater than anyone ever dreamed of in a peace period. In conception as in cost, this policy is truly on a grand scale. It is not too much to say that if it succeeds, we not only shall have preserved the peace of the world but saved European civilization from collapse and our own from a disastrous setback. If it fails, even though war does not ensue, the economic consequences would be pretty awful. Except actual war itself, in all our history we have never faced so great a crisis nor one imposing so heavy a strain upon our resources or evoking such risks.

CLEARLY, here is a situation calling for governmental competency of the highest possible degree. The urgency of managing our domestic affairs so as to stand strong and steady under the vast financial burdens of the European Recovery Program is too plain to debate. Obviously, this is a program requiring the putting of our fiscal house in the best of order—reduction of debt, enhancement of revenue, the elimination of waste, curtailment of governmental costs, an end to duplication and red tape, avoidance of unessential experiments and expansion. In brief, nothing should be left undone to buttress the soundness and strength of the whole Federal financial structure. That is just ordinary common sense.

BUT, with the great crisis on top of us, are we exercising ordinary common sense? Few will so contend. The fact is that instead of acting intelligently we are behaving like idiots. Instead of enhancing our revenues so as to reduce the great debt which is a conceded menace to the national security, Congress deliberately and despite protest from the fiscal officials, has diminished national revenue through tax reduction—more than five billion dollars. Instead of contracting governmental size and paring governmental expenditures, save those for national defense and foreign policy, we are expanding and increasing at an astonishing rate. We are about to launch new and expensive experiments along medical, educational, housing and social lines, all of which add to the cost, accelerate inflation and ought not to be undertaken until the fiscal announced an offer of $1000 for the apprehension of the murderer.

Mr. J. P. Hellings, the "hustler" who has so successfully managed many entertainments, is now trying to enthrone the community over the "Mad" entertainment to be held in Dufield's hall, Eden, next Saturday night. This show is to raise funds for the boardwalk which now stretches its way from the post office down the pike. The attempt to get "out of the mud" is commendable to the Edentites, and the Humesvillians would do well to follow the good example.

The voters of Langhorne Manor elected Mrs. Erick school director in place of Mrs. Gruger, who has held the position for several years, but did not desire to be elected for another term.

The rotary hand engine "William Penn" at Humesville, built in 1837, has received a handsome coat of red paint with gilt letters, the work of William P. Gill. The old engine has saved many a house during its life at Humesville, and today will send a stream of water over a three-story house. It has a rotary pump and long crank handles on either side of the water box to enable 12 men to work at once. The William Penn will be kept on exhibition in the fire company's engine house alongside their new Babcock chemical engine.

The consolidated tabulation of statistics by Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs Brown showing the per capita amount of taxes collected in the several counties of the state, shows that the lowest amount was in Bucks County, 17 cents, and the highest in Centre county, 92 cents.

foundations has been shored up. Overlapping and waste among the Federal bureaus and boards have not been reduced but increased. Confusion and incompetency are close to an all-time high.

AT this moment, no one knows with even reasonable accuracy how much we will have to put out this year nor how much we will take in. What we do know is that at the rate we are going deficit financing again threatens and debt reduction is a mirage. It is not surprising that those who know the facts are distressed and discouraged. With the national conventions and a political campaign ahead, there is a distrust and suspicion between Democratic President and Republican Congress of such character as to make real co-operation utterly impossible, though co-operation was never as acutely needed.

FROM men who truthfully can be described as disinterested there has come the suggestion that it would be greatly in the national interests if the President could be induced now to create an advisory council made up of private citizens in whose wisdom and patriotism the country as a whole has confidence. For such a group (though there are other qualified men) the names of Mr. Herbert Hoover and Mr. E. M. Baruch inevitably occur. Those who support this idea point out that the main complaint against Mr. Truman concerns the inadequacy of his advisers; the fact that except for two men in his Cabinet, there is no one of real stature and experience among those who surround and see him.

IN this crisis, if there were a board, composed of private citizens such as Mr. Hoover and Mr. Baruch, devoid of political ambition and of known ability, integrity, patriotism and experience, with whom Mr. Truman regularly consulted and upon whose advice he could be depended upon to act, it would go a very long way toward putting the weight of the nation behind our national policies and enabling us to measure up to the great requirements of world leadership. More surely than in any other way bipartisan cooperation on vital issues could be achieved. It would instill confidence and increase competency—both badly needed in this Administration. It seems a step to which neither Democrats nor Republicans could object. Certainly, popular approval would be great.

Manuscripts Reflect 266 Years' Events

Mr. Bleyden said that one of the most illustrious and beloved personages in this country is William Penn.

"In his documents here, and patents to lands, imprinted in his own handwriting, you can see the source of the unending stream of pioneers to our shores of the Delaware, and the men and women of old, who made our county of Bucks," Leyden commented.

"The numerous records here, of the early Quaker meetings, their books of discipline, and their marriage certificates, are all shining lights of the past, and what a warm gleam of humanity, tolerance and peace, do they reflect to us here today."

Mr. Bleyden said that another priceless treasure in the local society library, is an old manuscript book entitled, "A Registry of all the People of the County of Bucks, Within the Province of Pennsylvania, who have come to settle the said County." This manuscript is dated the 28th Day, 7th Month, 1682.

The book is in the handwriting and signed by Phineas Pemberton, a friend of William Penn.

Speaking of the many manuscripts on old roads, inns and taverns, Mr. Bleyden said that the inns and taverns played an important role in a cultural trend.

"They were the forerunners of our modern art galleries in the country," he said. "For every one of them has a large portrait or picture of some prominent man, or of an animal, a bird, hung in front of their hostilities, and these paintings, such as General Green, Logan, the Black Horse, or the Bird-in-Hand, were identified and became known. Some of these treasured paintings are now in museum of this society."

"And, I wish to observe, that many of these primitive paintings have more artistic worth, in quality, design, and richness in color, than some of the modernistic abominations you see hanging in the art galleries of today."

Large collections of family papers, a highly-prized collection of German manuscripts known as fractur scripten, are to be found in the local society's library. Another group of manuscripts covers the story of the famous "walking purchase."

Much happier scenes are presented in the John Fitch papers, Mr. Bleyden said.

"In these an achievement is seen, which will always remain a glorious event in the annals of Bucks county," he continued. "This is the launching of the first boat which was ever propelled by steam. A letter of Abraham McDowell, gives a thrilling eye witness account of this affair in Warminster township."

The society also houses the manuscript histories, maps and the records of all the legends of the romantic and historical places, which dotted the country.

A most valuable collection of manuscripts to be found here are the letters of Judge Henry Wyncoop, the first Representative of Bucks county to the First Congress of the United States, first convened in New York. These letters, Mr. Bleyden said, present a thrilling scene of the commencement of our Federal and constitutional form of government.

"Your president, Mr. Earnsley, has told me that he has his heart set, to save and preserve all the treasured manuscripts, and others, which in time will find their home here, for future generations and posterity," Mr. Bleyden said in his closing remarks.

New members elected during the past year were announced as follows: Miss Helen M. Barrett, Spring Valley; Mrs. Roland R. Carter, New Hope; Miss Helen M. Wright, Jersey City; Mrs. Ethel S. Hostwick, Bristol; Mrs. George Eckhardt, Hammonton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Knickerbocker Davis, Doylestown; Alice E. Smith, New Hope; George E. Tierney, Ardmore; Charles Stewart Greir Means, New York; Mrs. John Shoarer, Wrightstown; Miss Ella R. Thompson, Phila.; and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bradley, Newtown.

The present membership of the Bucks County Historical Society is 444 according to the annual report of Secretary and Curator Grace M. Mann. Twenty-four were elected during the past year; two resigned; 17 died, and one was dropped for unpaid dues.

In his report as curator, Mr. Mann reported that George MacReynolds, librarian, was granted an indefinite leave of absence to edit a history of the Doan Brothers, outlaws of the Revolution.

Mr. Mann also reported on changes to the interior of the buildings, and the various bequests and donations made to the society. One of the outstanding collections received during the year was that of 2000 dolls from various countries of the world presented by Mrs. Marion Williams Smith.

Mr. Mann reported that the income of the museum has become so restricted that it has been impossible to add but very few specimens to the collection by purchase.

The annual report of the librarian was also submitted by Acting Librarian Mann.

"Greater use was made of the library for research work during the past year than ever before," Mr. Mann reported. "We were fortunate in securing the assistance of Miss Helen M. Barrett, librarian of the Cheltenham High School, for the summer months when the number of visitors was at its height. The ability of James Jane in making sketches and scale drawings has been a great help in answering queries along different lines."

Passing on the wrong side is often an accident cause. The safest practice, and generally the only lawful one, is to pass on the left. Multiple-lane express highways and street cars sometimes provide exceptions to this rule.

Misjudging the speed of other cars is another cause of mishaps. About the only way the speed and distance of an oncoming vehicle can be judged is the rapidly with which it passes such landmarks as telephone poles, billboards and buildings, and this comparatively accurate judgment can only be made when the car approaches from directly ahead.

There is always the danger that the passing driver may be forced to swing back to his original position in the line because oncoming traffic has made it unsafe to complete the pass. Many times the driver's original position on the highway has already been filled. To guard against this, if the driver will ease his vehicle slightly over the center line at a safe distance to the rear of the vehicle in front, and assure himself of enough distance ahead to complete the pass, he can always swing safely back in line if necessary. In general, a clear open road of approximately 1,000 feet and an allowable time interval of 12 seconds is a safe margin.

In addition, accident prevention authorities recommend these special precautions:

1. A standing street car or bus taking on or discharging passengers should never be passed on the right unless the landing area is protected by a safety zone.

2. Vehicles should not pass on approaching curves, crests of hills, railroad grade crossings or at any intersections.

3. Never attempt to pass vehicles that are travelling at top speed or at maximum safe speed, and never attempt to pass when the required passing speed is greater than that allowed by the local speed law.

4. Indicate well in advance the desire to pass, either by shifting position of the car into the correct lane or by the use of hand signals, or both.

The urge to pass every vehicle is an indication of emotional immaturity and has no place in the mind of the expert driver; and the driver who makes it as difficult as possible for other cars to pass him is equally childish and dangerous. Nearly everyone has at some time been the near victim of the "eager beaver" who, due to some psychological quirk in his make-up cannot bear to stay behind the car ahead; or the "road hog" who straddles the center line, refusing to share the highway with anyone not complying with his prescribed rate of speed. The rule "keep to the right except when passing" should be adhered to by all motorists, whether they are moving at 20 or at 50 miles an hour.

Your cooperation with the Department of the Army in assisting the Army Day activities in this area is deeply appreciated. The Army Day advertisement you sponsored played an important role in accomplishing one of the primary objectives of Army Day—to make the public aware of the relationship between an adequate Army and the National Security.

Your fine spirit of helpfulness and understanding is especially appreciated by the personnel of the Bristol Recruiting Station, whose function was the dissemination of suitable military material to be used in the Army Day Program. Your friendliness made the task most pleasant.

If the U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Service can be of assistance to you in any way, be assured of our cooperation.

IS PAIN NECESSARY?

It is confusing to read of one-year-old Beverly Smith, who will never be able to feel pain. Should people be glad for her or sorry?

Pain is not popular, but it has its uses. Little Beverly is already a trial to her parents because she goes around bumping her head and burning her hand and thinking nothing of it. If she gets appendicitis, how will they know? If she breaks a leg, she may injure herself badly because there will be no pain to warn her to lie still.

If she misbehaves, her parents will not be able to use spanking as a method of controlling her. Scientists say that if pain were not useful, evolution would have eliminated it.

But most persons, without engaging in deep thought, are convinced pain is a bad thing. Most of it serves no useful purpose that they can see. Anesthetics have been invented to quell it. Pain causes suffering, neurosis, shock. And in other cases, where it could be a valuable aid to early diagnosis of some dreaded disease, it gives no warning until the condition becomes incurable.

The threshold of pain varies sharply in individuals. Whether little Beverly's painlessness proves to be a handicap or a blessing (it is incurable in either case) will depend on how well she becomes adjusted to it. But many persons will be envious of her.

NOURSE LOOKS AHEAD

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chairman of the President's Board of Economic Advisers, sounded more optimistic than otherwise when he addressed the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington.

The country, said Dr. Nourse, will enjoy several years of prosperity unless the war scare grows worse. The recession which has been predicted for many months may not come at all because of the foreign aid and rearmament programs. Hopes of avoiding runaway inflation are brighter because of recent developments, including the coal truce, good crop prospects and strategic price cuts.

In fact, Dr. Nourse seemed less concerned about the inflation danger than might have been expected. When he said that a sag in business activity might have come this year but for the Marshall Plan and more spending for arms, he implied that the economy can bear the additional burden without too great strain.

He admitted that spending for foreign aid and for arms, if maintained at a high level over a long period, can have grave consequences. They can have the effect of reducing the real earnings of the people even if inflation is held in check. The hope is that European nations will recoup some of their strength and thus reduce the need for a huge military establishment in this country.

Scientist who says man's cranium is gradually growing larger does not explain what man has to be big-headed about.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Mar. 3, 1898. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The Langhorne Trolley Company has authorized an increase of capital stock from $100,000 to $200,000 in order to be able to extend the road if any of several trolley movements by other parties now talked about shall come to pass.

Joseph R. Grundy returned to Bristol last Saturday evening after a four months absence in Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceania.

TULLYTOWN — Robert Lee of Duck Island, has purchased the property known as the Isalah Woolston farm from Amos B. Headley. Mr. Lee's son expects to occupy the premises about the first of April.

The daily papers . . . for the past few days have been publishing full accounts of the two horrible murders that have taken place in Bucks County during the past week. The first occurred on last Thursday morning, when Adam Weaver, in resisting arrest by Constable Atherhold, Erwin Mondeau and Israel Moser, shot and instantly killed Moser. . . . Erwin Mondeau, the dead man, was a farmer near Burdsville. The county commissioners have offered a reward of $1000 for the capture of the murderer.

Miss Annie L. Edwards, who lived alone at Jamison, a short distance from Doylestown, was murdered some time between seven o'clock Friday evening and the same hour Monday morning, when her body was found in her bedroom . . . her assailant using a water pitcher for raining the cruel blows upon her head, and in her left arm was a bullet wound extending almost from the wrist to the elbow.

As soon as the county commissioners learned of the tragedy they

AMONG the graver defects in our system is the apparent inability of the Federal Government to function competently in a crisis. This, of course, was proven in World War I, and even more convincingly in World War II. It is true we won both those great struggles. And, after each we proudly flapped our wings, loudly crowing about the "superb job" we had done, though every informed man knew that the cost in American lives and American dollars had been far greater than it should have been.

ESPECIALLY was this so of the last war because in that, for indefensible reasons we rejected the hard-bought experience of the first and refused to profit by its demonstrated mistakes. Now, hardly three years since the shooting ended, in an effort to avert a third world war, the possibility of which is conceded by all, we are embarked upon a foreign policy involving sums of a magnitude and perils of a proportion greater than anyone ever dreamed of in a peace period. In conception as in cost, this policy is truly on a grand scale. It is not too much to say that if it succeeds we not only shall have preserved the peace of the world but saved European civilization from collapse and our own from a disastrous setback. If it fails, even though war does not ensue, the economic consequences would be pretty awful. Except actual war itself, in all our history we have never faced so great a crisis nor one imposing so heavy a strain upon our resources or evoking such risks.

CLEARLY, here is a situation calling for governmental competency of the highest possible degree. The urgency of managing our domestic affairs so as to stand strong and steady under the vast financial burdens of the European Recovery Program is too plain to debate. Obviously, this is a program requiring the putting of our fiscal house in the best of order—reduction of debt, enhancement of revenue, the elimination of waste, curtailment of governmental costs, an end to duplication and red tape avoidance of unessential experiments and expansion. In brief, nothing should be left undone to buttress the soundness and strength of the whole Federal financial structure. That is just ordinary common sense.

BUT, with the great crisis on top of us, are we exercising ordinary common sense? Few will so contend. The fact is that instead of acting intelligently we are behaving like idiots. Instead of enhancing our revenues so as to reduce the great debt which is a conceded menace to the national security, Congress deliberately and despite protest from the fiscal officials, has diminished national revenue—through tax reduction—more than five billion dollars. Instead of contracting governmental size and paring governmental expenditures, save those for national defense and foreign policy, we are expanding and increasing at an astonishing rate. We are about to launch new medical, educational, housing and social lines, all of which add to the cost, accelerate inflation and ought not to be undertaken until the fiscal announced an offer of $1000 for the apprehension of the murderer.

Mr. J. P. Hellings, the "hustler" who has so successfully managed many entertainments, is now trying to enthrone the community over the "Mud" entertainment to be held in Duffield's hall, Eden, next Saturday night. This show is to raise funds for the boardwalk which now stretches its way from the post office down the pike. The attempt to get "out of the mud" is commendable to the Edentites, and the Hulmevillians would do well to follow the good example.

The voters of Langhorne Manor elected Mrs. Erick school director in place of Mrs. Gruger, who has held the position for several years, but did not desire to be elected for another term.

The rotary hand engine "William Penn" at Hulmeville, built in 1837, has received a handsome coat of red paint with gilt letters, the work of William P. Gill. The old engine has saved many a house during its life at Hulmeville, and today will send a stream of water over a three-story house. It has a rotary pump and long crank handles on either side of the water box to enable 12 men to work at once. The William Penn will be kept on exhibition in the fire company's engine house alongside their new Babcock chemical engine.

The consolidated tabulation of statistics by Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs Brown showing the per capita amount of taxes collected in the several counties of the state, shows that the lowest amount was in Bucks County, 17 cents, and the highest in Centre county, 92 cents.

Manuscripts Reflect 266 Years' Events

Mr. Bleyden said that one of the most illustrious and beloved personages in this country is William Penn.

"In his documents here, and patents to lands, imprinted in his own handwriting, you can see the source of the unending stream of pioneers to our shores of the Delaware, and the men and women of old, who made our county of Bucks." Leyden commented.

"The numerous records here, of the early Quaker meetings, their books of discipline, and their marriage certificates, are all shining lights of the past, and what a warm gleam of humanity, tolerance and peace, do they reflect to us here today."

Mr. Bleyden said that another priceless treasure in the local society library, is an old manuscript book entitled, "A Registry of all the People of the County of Bucks, Within the Province of Pennsylvania, who have come to settle the said County." This manuscript is dated the 28th Day, 7th Month, 1682.

The book is in the handwriting and signed by Phineas Pemberton, a friend of William Penn.

Speaking of the many manuscripts on old roads, inns and taverns, Mr. Bleyden said that the inns and taverns played an important role in a cultural trend.

"They were the forerunners of our modern art galleries in the country," he said. "For every one of them has a large portrait or picture of some prominent man, or of an animal, a bird, hung in front of their hostilities, and these paintings, such as General Green, Logan, the Black Horse, or the Bird-in-Hand, were identified and became known. Some of these treasured paintings are now in museum of this society."

"And, I wish to observe, that many of these primitive paintings have more artistic worth, in quality, design, and richness in color, than some of the modernistic abominations you see hanging in the art galleries of today."

Large collections of family papers, a highly-prized collection of German manuscripts known as fractur scripten, are to be found in the local society's library. Another group of manuscripts covers the story of the famous "walking purchase."

Much happier scenes are presented in the John Fitch papers, Mr. Bleyden said.

"In these an achievement is seen, which will always remain a glorious event in the annals of Bucks county," he continued. "This is the launching of the first boat which was ever propelled by steam."

A letter of Abraham McDowell, gives a thrilling eye witness account of this affair in Warminster township.

The society also houses the manuscript histories, maps and the reords of all the legends of the romantic and historical places, which dotted the country.

A most valuable collection of manuscripts to be found here are the letters of Judge Henry Wyncoop, the first Representative of Bucks county to the First Congress of the United States, first convened in New York. These letters, Mr. Bleyden said, present a thrilling scene of the commencement of our Federal and constitutional form of government.

"Your president, Mr. Barnsley, has told me that he has his heart set, to save and preserve all the treasured manuscripts, and others, which in time will find their home here, for future generations and posterity," Mr. Bleyden said in his closing remarks.

New members elected during the past year were announced as follows: Miss Helen M. Barrett, Spring Valley; Mrs. Roland R. Carter, New Hope; Miss Helen M. Wright, Jersey City; Mrs. Ethel S. Bostwick, Bristol; Mrs. George Eckhardt, Hammonton, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. Knickerbocker Davis, Doylestown; Alice E. Smith, New Hope; George E. Tierney, Ardmore; Charles Stewart Greir Means, New York; Mrs. John Shearer, Wrightstown; Miss Ella R. Thompson, Phila.; and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bradley, Newtown.

The present membership of the Bucks County Historical Society is 444 according to the annual report of Secretary and Curator Horace M. Mann. Twenty-four were elected during the past year; two resigned; 17 died, and one was dropped for unpaid dues.

In his report as curator, Mr. Mann reported that George MacReynolds, librarian, was granted an indefinite leave of absence to edit a history of the Doan Brothers, outlaws of the Revolution.

Mr. Mann also reported on changes to the interior of the buildings, and the various bequests and donations made to the society. One of the outstanding collections received during the year was that of 2000 dolls from various countries of the world presented by Mrs. Marion Williams Smith.

Mr. Mann reported that the income of the museum has become so restricted that it has been impossible to add but very few specimens to the collection by purchase.

The annual report of the librarian was also submitted by Acting Librarian Mann.

"Greater use was made of the library for research work during the past year than ever before," Mr. Mann reported. "We were fortunate in securing the assistance of Miss Helen M. Barrett, librarian of the Cheltenham High School, for the summer months when the number of visitors was at its height. The ability of James Jane in making sketches and scale drawings has been a great help in answering queries along different lines."

Many Drive on Wrong Side of Highways

Passing on the wrong side is often an accident cause. The safest practice, and generally the only lawful one, is to pass on the left. Multiple-lane express highways and street cars sometimes provide exceptions to this rule.

Misjudging the speed of other cars is another cause of mishaps. About the only way the speed and distance of an oncoming vehicle can be judged is the rapidity with which it passes such landmarks as telephone poles, billboards and buildings, and this comparatively accurate judgment can only be made when the car approaches from directly ahead.

There is always the danger that the passing driver may be forced to swing back to his original position in the line because oncoming traffic has made it unsafe to complete the pass. Many times the driver's original position on the highway has already been filled. To guard against this, if the driver will ease his vehicle slightly over the center line at a safe distance to the rear of the vehicle in front, and assure himself of enough distance ahead to complete the pass, he can always swing safely back in line if necessary. In general, a clear open road of approximately 1,000 feet and an allowable time interval of 12 seconds is a safe margin.

In addition, accident prevention authorities recommend these special precautions:

1. A standing street car or bus taking on or discharging passengers should never be passed on the right unless the landing area is protected by a safety zone.
2. Vehicles should not pass on approaching curves, crests of hills, railroad grade crossings or at any intersections.
3. Never attempt to pass vehicles that are travelling at top speed or at maximum safe speed, and never attempt to pass when the required passing speed is greater than that allowed by the local speed law.
4. Indicate well in advance the desire to pass, either by shifting position of the car into the correct lane or by the use of hand signals, or both.

The urge to pass every vehicle is an indication of emotional immaturity and has no place in the mind

However Attractive the Distinctly modern architectural ideas may be, the Colonial house that is traditionally American holds its own in popular appeal through the years. Here is a fine example of this type of home, done in white pine clapboards, white cedar shingles.

Traditionally COLONIAL

By MARION CLYDE MCCARROLL

In this age of rush, confusion and insecurity, there is something very relaxing and reassuring, somehow, in contact with things that breathe the atmosphere of a happier and more peaceful past.

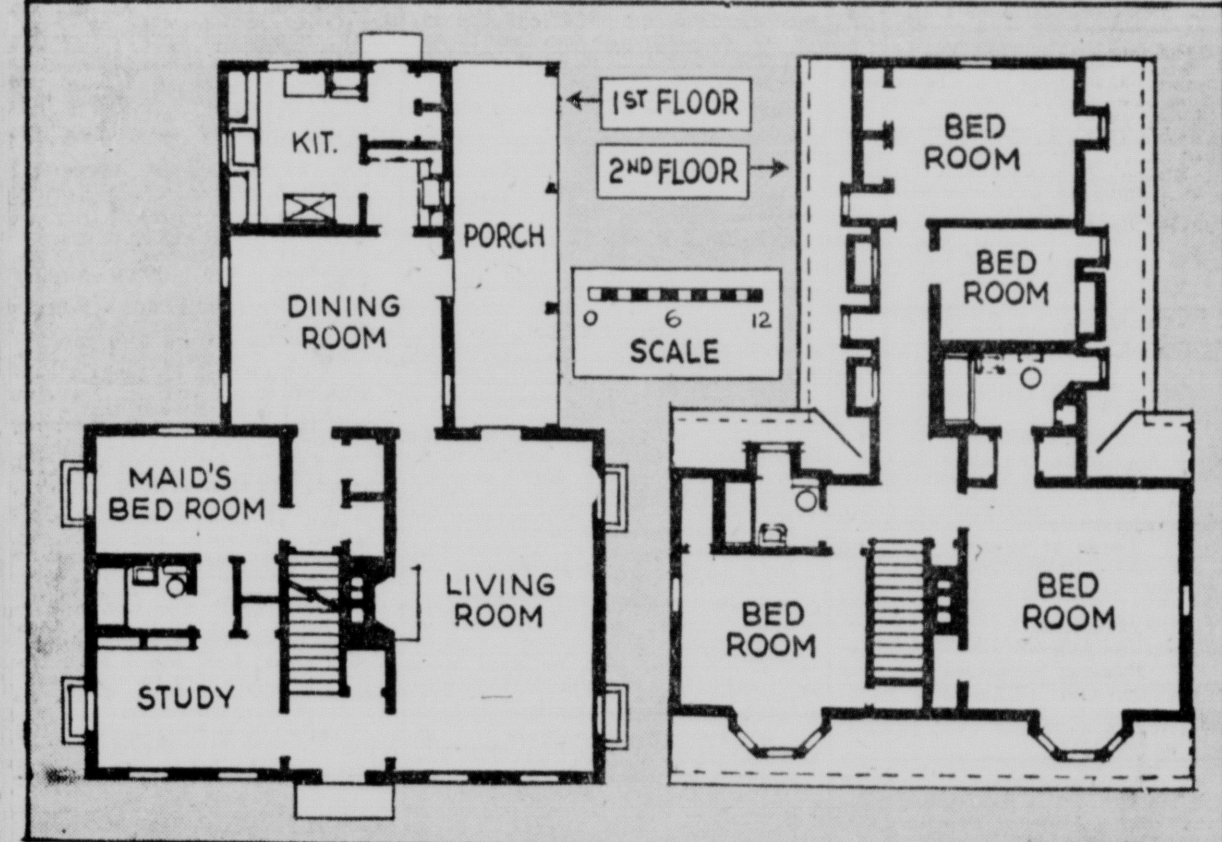

That, perhaps, is one of the reasons for the fact that the popular appeal of houses in the Colonial tradition never gives ground, no matter how many and varied the architectural ideas developed by those seeking to create building designs that will express the modern spirit.

The house pictured above beautifully exemplifies the simplicity, dignity and comfortable home-ness that one invariably associates with days gone by. The straightforward openness of its appearance gives an impression of easy friendliness; of informal cordiality that is the very essence of the American way of life.

While the house appears of no more than moderate size, it nevertheless has plenty of room. Four bedrooms and two baths for the use of the family and its guests are provided on the second floor, a maid's room and bath being located on the first floor. And instead of having part of the living room devoted to a dining area, as is so frequently done nowadays, this house has a good-sized dining room in a separate wing, with the kitchen situated behind it.

In addition to all this, there is an extra room at the front of the house for a library or a study.

Interior Plans of the House are unusually desirable, with the entire upper floor reserved exclusively for the family bedrooms, the maid's room being downstairs. Dining room and kitchen are in a separate wing.

Greer Enjoys Nibbling Even After A Banquet

BRIDGEWATER, May 3 — Alva Greer, 17, one of the 13 who on Saturday completed the week-long "starvation" diet as a prelude to the opening of the UN-sponsored Crusade for Children, arrived at his home Saturday evening after partaking of a steak banquet in Town Hall, Philadelphia.

In spite of the fact that the youth had just devoured a sumptuous supper, he continued to nibble at pretzels, cake and candy, in an effort to satisfy his appetite.

He retired at the usual hour Saturday evening, and slept late yesterday morning. Upon arising yesterday morning he was eager for his breakfast, the first meal of that type since the "starvation" diet started a week ago.

In speaking of Alvah's participation in the week-long diet of 1200 calories daily (the same as many girls and boys abroad are living on today), Mrs. Greer, his mother, stated that Alvah would be willing to do it again. He and 13 others from various private schools in the Philadelphia area were the voluntary participants. One pupil found it necessary, when weakened, to leave the Broadwood Hotel where the group lived under supervision, and return home to regular fare.

RECIPES

Potato Dumplings

2 cups cooked and rice potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon shortening, melted
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

1½ tablespoons finely chopped parsley or chives (optional)

Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Divide into 12 portions and shape into balls. Chill. Drop into simmering stew, being careful to drop each ball onto a piece of chicken, so that it will not be immersed in the liquid. Cover kettle tightly, and cook, without removing cover for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 medium-sized dumplings.

Chicken Stew With Potato Dumplings

5-pound fowl, cut up
Few stalks or leaves of celery
1 sliced onion
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
Bit of bay leaf (optional)
1½ quarts hot water

Combine all ingredients and simmer gently, covered, 3 to 4 hours, or until tender. (Be careful to cook the chicken slowly—do not boil). Thicken stock to make nice rich gravy. If desired, make Potato Dumplings and cook in stew as directed in recipe below.

and one operated by William W. Terry, of Wilton, Conn., were involved. McCarthy is said to have been driving north on Bellevue avenue, and Terry west in the super-highway. McCarthy's sedan, it is stated by police, struck the left rear of the Terry car. James Crowther, riding in the McCarthy machine, had a small laceration of the scalp, contusions and abrasions of the left elbow. Treatment was administered at Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia.

The Lincoln Highway, 2½ miles east of Pennel, was the scene of an accident Saturday evening at six o'clock. A car driven by Amy P. Wurst, Morrisville R. D. 1, traveling west on the highway, and one driven by William Yackie, Langhorne R. D. 2, were involved, state police say. According to the investigating officer, Amy Wurst, in traveling west on Route 1, in attempting to make a right turn swung left, then right. Yackie, who was traveling east, struck the Wurst car on the right side, both machines running off the highway and into the house of Thomas Wheatley. A passenger in the car of Amy Wurst, Mrs. Lorey Marton, New York, N. Y., was treated by a physician for possible fracture of the skull.

In another accident there were no injuries, although fenders of two cars were damaged. This occurred on Bristol-Brownsville road, at 10:05 p. m., Saturday. One car, driven by Charles J. Mager, Langhorne R. D. 1, was traveling north, and collided with a machine operated by Julius Horvath, Langhorne R. D. 1, traveling south, it is said.

Westminster Winner Upset at New Hope Show

NEW HOPE, May 3—Ch. Michael Pendergast, the well-known Westminster bulldog winner, met its first defeat in 30 tries in his breed Saturday at the annual Bucks County Kennel Club's show at the high school grounds.

Ch. Michael Pendergast, owned by Carlos L. Henriquez, III, of New York, was defeated by ch. Hobbyhorse Clintonson with Hannah Mee Horner, of Upper Darby, doing the judging.

One of the 62 great danes, largest breed entry of the show's 830 dogs, winning male points went to Sir Lancelot III, owned by W. Robert Bittenbender, of Scranton. Lancelot was handled by W. J. Gilbert and had his heaviest competition from a black and white spotted Harlequin, Captain Rick, of Chalmers, from the Chandon Kennels of Selsuket, N. Y.

In the Irish setters, which featured the specialty of the Tri-State Irish Setter Club, a five-year-old dog, Milson's Red Dawn, owned by Dr. Alfred Chapman Benedict of South Orange, N. J., and handled by Mrs. Benedict, earned the dog points in some heavy going. Leo M. Schoen of New York, judged.

The favorite Basset hound, Hartshead Pepper, handled by Mrs. Carolyn V. Blagden for Ira D. Shoop of Norristown, added another breed best to his already impressive record. He looked fit and ready for heavier competition later in the day.

The biggest Bucks County show in the seven years since the club first started giving point affairs was helped along by ideal weather and saw a record crowd turn out for the morning decisions.

The Lincoln Highway, 2½ miles east of Pottsville, was the scene of an accident Saturday evening at six o'clock. A car driven by Amy P. Wurst, Morrisville R. D. 1, traveling west on the highway, and one driven by William Yackie, Langhorne R. D. 2, were involved, state police say. According to the investigating officer, Amy Wurst, in traveling west on Route 1, in attempting to make a right turn swung left, then right. Yackie, who was traveling east, struck the Wurst car on the right side, both machines running off the highway and into the house of Thomas Wheatley. A passenger in the car of Amy Wurst, Mrs. Lorey Marton, New York, N. Y., was treated by a physician for possible fracture of the skull.

In another accident there were no injuries, although fenders of two cars were damaged. This occurred on Bristol-Brownsville road, at 10:05 p. m., Saturday. One car, driven by Charles J. Mager, Langhorne R. D. 1, was traveling north, and collided with a machine operated by Julius Horvath, Langhorne R. D. 1, traveling south, it is said.

Greer Enjoys Nibbling Even After A Banquet

BRIDGEWATER, May 3 — Alva Greer, 17, one of the 13 who on Saturday completed the week-long "starvation" diet as a prelude to the opening of the UN-sponsored Crusade for Children, arrived at his home Saturday evening after partaking of a steak banquet in Town Hall, Philadelphia.

In spite of the fact that the youth had just devoured a sumptuous dinner, he continued to nibble at pretzels, cake and candy, in an effort to satisfy his appetite.

He retired at the usual hour Saturday evening, and slept late yesterday morning. Upon arising yesterday morning he was eager for his breakfast, the first meal of that type since the "starvation" diet started a week ago.

In speaking of Alva's participation in the week-long diet of 1200 calories daily (the same as many girls and boys abroad are living on today), Mrs. Greer, his mother, stated that Alva would be willing to do it again. He and 12 others from various private schools in the Philadelphia area were the voluntary participants. One pupil found it necessary, when weakened, to leave the Broadwood Hotel where the group lived under supervision, and return home to regular fare.

RECIPES

Potato Dumplings
2 cups cooked and rice potatoes
2 tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon shortening, melted
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1½ tablespoons finely chopped parsley or chives (optional)
Combine all ingredients and mix thoroughly. Divide into 12 portions and shape into balls. Chill. Drop into simmering stew, being careful to drop each ball onto a piece of chicken, so that it will not be immersed in the liquid. Cover Kettle tightly, and cook, without removing cover for 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 12 medium-sized dumplings.

Chicken Stew With Potato Dumplings

5-pound fowl, cut up
Few stalks or leaves of celery
1 sliced onion
2 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
Bit of bay leaf (optional)
1½ quarts hot water
Combine all ingredients and simmer gently, covered, 3 to 4 hours, or until tender. (Be careful to cook the chicken slowly—do not boil). Thicken stock to make nice rich gravy, if desired. Make Potato Dumplings and cook in stew as directed in recipe below.

Westminster Winner Upset at New Hope Show

NEW HOPE, May 3—Ch. Michael Pendergast, the well-known Westminster bulldog winner, met its first defeat in 30 tries in his breed Saturday at the annual Bucks County Kennel Club's show at the high school grounds.

Ch. Michael Pendergast, owned by Carlos L. Henriquez, III, of New York, was defeated by ch. Hobbyhorse Clintonson with Hannah Mee Horner, of Upper Darby, doing the judging.

One of the 62 great danes, largest breed entry of the show's 830 dogs, winning male points went to Sir Lancelot III, owned by W. Robert Bittenbender of Scranton. Lancelot was handled by W. J. Gilbert and had his heaviest competition from a black and white spotted Harlequin, Captain Rick, of Chalbun from the Chandidon Kennels of Setauket, N. Y.

In the Irish setters, which featured the specialty of the Tri-State Irish Setter Club, a five-year-old dog, Milson's Red Dawn, owned by Dr. Alfred Chapman Benedict of South Orange, N. J., and handled by Mrs. Benedict, earned the dog points in some heavy going. Leo M. Schoen of New York, judged.

The favorite Basset hound, Hartshorn Pepper, handled by Mrs. Carolyn V. Blagden for Ira D. Shoop of Norristown, added another breed best to his already impressive record. He looked fit and ready for heavier competition later in the day.

The biggest Bucks County show in the seven years since the club first started giving point affairs was helped along by ideal weather and saw a record crowd turn out for the morning decisions.

Individual Writer Aids Air Mail Advancement

The individual letter writer is probably more responsible for the rapid growth of domestic air mail than any other group using this mode of transportation to expedite mail matter, according to postmaster Joseph P. Duffy.

While calling attention to the observance of the 30th anniversary of air mail service May 15-21, Postmaster Duffy pointed out that, on the basis of a survey conducted by the postoffice department, social or personal correspondence accounts for 70 per cent of letters going by air from the Bristol post office.

"Business houses are employing air mail facilities on an ever-increasing scale. However, the amount of space they require on the super airlines today is less than half that taken up by social correspondence, strange as it may seem," the local postmaster said. Emphasizing that air mail requires no longer than a day to reach the most distant point in the entire nation, Postmaster Duffy declared that the average domestic airborne letter travelled 1402 miles in 1947. Due to the lightness of stationery designed especially for air mail use, the average piece of air mail weighs less than three-fifths of an ounce.

Postmaster Duffy estimated that an average of 13 pounds of incoming and outgoing air mail are handled daily by the Bristol post office. It takes more than 30 letters to make one pound of air mail. Last year alone there were in excess of 28,000,000 pounds, aggregating almost 800,000,000 letters, flown throughout this country.

LEAD IN THEIR PLANS

LONDON—(INS)—Because lead sells in the black market at $1.20 a ton, ancient churches with lead-covered roofs are being stripped in Britain's latest racket. In southern England churches that have stood unscathed since William the Conqueror landed in 1066 must now be guarded at night against modern invaders—organized gangs of roof-strippers.

Purchase Group of Outdoor Advertising Plants

Purchase of a group of outdoor advertising plants in California by the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Company, which purchased Fleetwings Plant 2, here, was announced today by W. L. McKnight, president of the Minnesota concern.

These plants, formerly known as the Empire Advertising Company of San Francisco and Stockton, the Aristocrat Highway Displays of Hanford, and the United Outdoor Advertising Company of Long Beach, will be known as the Empire Advertising Company, Inc., with headquarters in South San Francisco.

The above companies are all long established in the field of leasing, erecting and servicing outdoor advertising signs. They will be operated as a separate subsidiary of the 3M Company with Roger Houshille as general manager of the enterprise, headquartered in San Francisco.

Francisco, L. "Bud" VerPlank is the general manager of the newly-created Los Angeles division.

These facilities will be employed to produce "Scotchlite" outdoor advertising signs, and to help in the promotion and sale of this product to advertisers and outdoor advertising plant operators on the west coast.

"Scotchlite" is a plastic sheeting coated with microscopic glass lenses. Under auto headlights, the lenses reflect the sign's design and legend in full color, providing the motorist with informative roadside information at night as well as by day.

This is the same material used by hundreds of civic groups throughout the country to make bicycles safer at night. To date more than a million bikes have been reflectorized with the product.

Individual Writer Aide Air Mail Advancement

The individual letter writer is probably more responsible for the rapid growth of domestic air mail than any other group using this mode of transportation to expedite mail matter, according to postmaster Joseph P. Duffy.

While calling attention to the observance of the 30th anniversary of air mail service May 15-21, Postmaster Duffy pointed out that, on the basis of a survey conducted by the postoffice department, social or personal correspondence accounts for 70 per cent of letters going by air from the Bristol post office.

"Business houses are employing air mail facilities on an ever-increasing scale. However, the amount of space they require on the super airlines today is less than half that taken up by social correspondence, strange as it may seem," the local postmaster said. Emphasizing that air mail requires no longer than a day to reach the most distant point in the entire nation, Postmaster Duffy declared that the average domestic airborne letter traveled 1402 miles in 1947. Due to the lightness of stationery designed especially for air mail use, the average piece of stationery weighs less than three-fifths of an ounce.

Postmaster Duffy estimated that an average of 13 pounds of incoming and outgoing air mail are handled daily by the Bristol post office. It takes more than 30 letters to make one pound of air mail. Last year alone there were in excess of 28,000,000 pounds, aggregating almost 800,000,000 letters, flown throughout this country.

LEAD IN THEIR PLANS

LONDON—(INS)—Because lead sells in the black market at $1200 a ton, ancient churches with lead-covered roofs are being stripped in Britain's latest racket. In southern England churches that have stood unscathed since William the Conqueror landed in 1066 must now be guarded at night against modern invaders—organized gangs of roof-strippers.

Purchase Group of Outdoor Advertising Plants

Purchase of a group of outdoor advertising plants in California by the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Company, which purchased Fleetwings Plant 2, here, was announced today by W. L. McKnight, president of the Minnesota concern.

These plants, formerly known as the Empire Advertising Company of San Francisco and Stockton, the Aristocrat Highway Displays of Hanford, and the United Outdoor Advertising Company of Long Beach, will be known as the Empire Advertising Company, Inc., with headquarters in South San Francisco.

The above companies are all long established in the field of leasing, erecting and servicing outdoor advertising signs. They will be operated as a separate subsidiary of the 3M Company with Roger Rouselle as general manager of the entire plant, headquartered in San Francisco.

Francisco. L. "Bud" VerPlank is the general manager of the newly-created Los Angeles division.

These facilities will be employed to produce "Scotchlite" outdoor advertising signs, and to help in the promotion and sale of this product to advertisers and outdoor advertising plant operators on the west coast.

"Scotchlite" is a plastic sheeting coated with microscopic glass lenses. Under auto headlights, the lenses reflect the sign's design and legend in full color, providing the motorist with informative roadside information at night as well as by day.

This is the same material used by hundreds of civic groups throughout the country to make bicycles safer at night. To date more than a million bikes have been reflectorized with the product.

Church Ceremony Unites Miss Coyne and Mr. Mohr

CROYDON, May 3—Before an altar decked with candles, fern, white snapdragons and carnations, Miss Helene Coyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Coyne, repeated the vows to become the bride of Mr. Earl N. Mohr, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mohr, Trenton, N. J. The double ring ceremony which took place Saturday at ten a. m. with nuptial Mass in St. Thomas R. C. Church was performed by the Rev. Joseph Diamond, rector. Presiding at the console was Miss Barbara Eisenhardt, with Miss Nancy Danieleux, former schoolmate of the bride, as soloist. She sang "Ave Maria," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" during the mass.

For the wedding, dedicated to "Our Blessed Lady," the former Miss Coyne was attended by her sister, Miss Patricia Coyne, as maid of honor, the Misses Rosemary Hafele, Croydon, and Miss Veronica Cubbins, Philadelphia, as bridesmaids; and her cousin, Barbara Schoener, as flower girl. The colors chosen for their gowns were of baby blue. The bridesmaids were gowned in dresses of painted marquisette over taffeta, sleeveless, and made on Victorian style. Their bouffant skirts, worn with hoops, featured side drapes starting in narrow points at the hemline in front and back and forming side bustles at the hip lines. Long lace mitts were worn. The maid of honor wore a dress of imported frosted marquisette over taffeta with an off-shoulder effect in plain marquisette outlined in a narrow ruffle, fitted bodice and elbow length sleeves. A peplum edged in double ruffles formed a slight bustle in the back. The full skirt was worn with a hoop. Short lace mitts were worn. The trio wore blue picture hats with long satin streamers; white slippers and carried arm bouquets of white stock, snapdragons and blue carnations tied with white bows.

The little flower girl wore a shepherdess gown of blue taffeta with a wide ruffle outlining the off-shoulder effect and tied with a large bow in back. The hoop skirt had ruffles of net from the hem to the waistline. White slippers completed her costume, and she carried a miniature bouquet similar to the other attendants.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a colonial gown of imported white frosted marquisette over taffeta. The gown was made with an off-shoulder effect edged with a ruffled flange, fitted bodice buttoned down the back, with modified leg-of-mutton sleeves ending in ruffles over the hands. The hoop skirt featured three rows of wide ruffles coming to a point in the center of the skirt in front, and extending the full length of the four-yard train. Her double veil of bridal illusion was edged in rose point lace, and was held by a halo bonnet of shirred illusion with clusters of seed pearls. White kid sandals completed her costume, and she carried an arm bouquet of white roses with a double orchid center. The bride-groom's gift to his bride was a string of matched pearls.

During the ceremony the bride placed a bouquet at the foot of the Blessed Mother Altar while the soloist sang "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling".

Mr. Mohr was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Joseph Spalding, Trenton, as best man; and Mr. Joseph Wunsch, Jr., Croydon, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Carl Mohr, Trenton, the bridegroom's brother, as ushers.

A wedding breakfast was served

members of the bridal party at the home of the bride, with a reception later in the afternoon at the Coyne studio, 100 guests attending.

Following a week's honeymoon trip motoring through the New England States, the couple will reside temporarily in an apartment on Main street. The bride's travelling ensemble consisted of a fitted suit of navy blue, pink blouse, navy slippers and bag, pink gloves, pink hat trimmed in navy blue, and a pink shortie coat. She wore the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is employed as a secretary in the X-ray department of Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, and is also physical culture instructor at Nazareth Academy, Philadelphia. She graduated from Nazareth Academy in 1946. The bride, also well known in this vicinity for her dancing ability, during the war entertained at veterans hospitals in Pennsylvania and several surrounding states. The bridegroom during World War II served three years in the U. S. Navy. He is employed by the Michael Flynn Co., Philadelphia.

CROYDON, May 3—Before an altar decked with candles, fern, white snapdragons and carnations, Miss Helene Coyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Coyne, repeated the vows to become the bride of Mr. Earl N. Mohr, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Mohr, Trenton, N. J. The double ring ceremony which took place Saturday at ten a. m. with nuptial Mass in St. Thomas R. C. Church was performed by the Rev. Joseph Diamond, rector. Presiding at the console was Miss Barbara Eisenhardt, with Miss Nancy Diana Deleux, former schoolmate of the bride, as soloist. She sang "Ave Maria," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" during the mass.

For the wedding, dedicated to "Our Blessed Lady," the former Miss Coyne was attended by her sister, Miss Patricia Coyne, as maid of honor, the Misses Rosemary Hafele, Croydon, and Miss Veronica Gubbins, Philadelphia, as bridesmaids; and her cousin, Barbara Schoener, as flower girl. The colors chosen for their gowns were of baby blue. The bridesmaids were gowned in dresses of painted marquisette over tulle, sleeveless, and made on Victorian style. Their bouffant skirts, worn with hoops, featured side drapes starting in narrow points at the hemline in front and back and forming side bustles at the hip lines. Long lace mitts were worn. The maid of honor wore a dress of imported frosted marquisette over tulle with an off-shoulder effect in plain marquisette outlined in a narrow ruffle, fitted bodice and elbow length sleeves. A peplum edged in double ruffles formed a slight bustle in the back. The full skirt was worn with a hoop. Short lace mitts were worn. The trio wore blue picture hats with long satin streamers; white slippers and carried arm bouquets of white stock, snapdragons and blue carnations tied with white bows.

The little flower girl wore a shepherdess gown of blue tulle with a wide ruffle outlining the off-shoulder effect and tied with a large bow in back. The hoop skirt had ruffles of net from the hem to the waistline. White slippers completed her costume, and she carried a miniature bouquet similar to the other attendants.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose a colonial gown of imported white frosted marquisette over tulle. The gown was made with an off-shoulder effect edged with a ruffled flange, fitted bodice buttoned down the back, with modified leg-of-mutton sleeves ending in ruffles over the hands. The hoop skirt featured three rows of wide ruffles coming to a point in the center of the skirt in front, and extending the full length of the four-yard train. Her double veil of bridal illusion was edged in rose point lace, and was held by a halo bonnet of shirred illusion with clusters of seed pearls. White kid sandals completed her costume, and she carried an arm bouquet of white roses with a double orchid center. The bride-groom's gift to his bride was a string of matched pearls.

During the ceremony the bride placed a bouquet at the foot of the Blessed Mother Altar while the soloist sang "Mother at Your Feet Is Kneeling."

Mr. Mohr was attended by his brother-in-law, Mr. Joseph Spalding, Trenton, as best man; and Mr. Joseph Wunsch, Jr., Croydon, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Carl Mohr, Trenton, the bridegroom's brother, as ushers.

A wedding breakfast was served

members of the bridal party at the home of the bride, with a reception later in the afternoon at the Coyne studio, 100 guests attending.

Following a week's honeymoon trip motoring through the New England States, the couple will reside temporarily in an apartment on Main street. The bride's travelling ensemble consisted of a fitted suit of navy blue, pink blouse, navy slippers and bag, pink gloves, pink hat trimmed in navy blue, and a pink shortie coat. She wore the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is employed as a secretary in the X-ray department of Nazareth Hospital, Philadelphia, and is also physical culture instructor at Nazareth Academy, Philadelphia. She graduated from Nazareth Academy in 1946. The bride, also well known in this vicinity for her dancing ability, during the war entertained at veterans hospitals in Pennsylvania and several surrounding states. The bridegroom during World War II served three years in the U. S. Navy. He is employed by the Michael Flynn Co., Philadelphia.

LOOSE FIELDING MARSH LEAGUE'S OPENING GAME

Loose fielding marred the game on the Memorial Park field yesterday afternoon as the Good Will Hose aggregation won out over the Lewis Lodge of Elks, 11-9, in a scoring bee. It was the opening tilt of the Bristol Suburban League and witnessed by a large crowd.

Thirteen errors were committed in the contest which lasted over three hours. In addition to these, many balls went for base hits that players should have caught in the vest pockets.

However, the scoring of runs was plentiful and each team was dangerous every time it stepped to the plate. In fact the Elks scored a pair of runs in their final turn with the stick and "Hughie" Deans had to bear down to retire the last three batters.

Deans went the entire route for the winners although touched for 15 hits. He struck out nine batters and although he did not walk a batter, he hit three with pitched balls.

The Elks had a parade of pitchers. Clarence Anderson started and last until the seventh when "Loggie" Bragg relieved him. Bragg only retired one batter when he decided his arm wasn't in shape so went to the bench. Nelson Young took Bragg's place but he was replaced by a pinch-hitter in the eighth. Hardy Johnson finished. Anderson was charged with the defeat.

"Matt" Bragg was the leading hitter of the afternoon getting four safeties in five times up. "Chuck" Klein had two out of three for the losers.

Good Will counted four markers in the first and held the lead until the fourth when the Elks knotted the count at 5-5. The Dorseymen forged ahead in the sixth but in the seventh, the hosemen clinched the tilt with a quintet of runs.

West Bristol Defeats Newportville A. A.

Scoring three runs in the eighth inning, West Bristol A. C. beat out the Newportville A. A. contingent yesterday afternoon in the season's opener on the West Bristol field. Final score was 4 to 1.

The contest was tied at 1-1 until the West Bristol batter pounced on George Keen for their trio of markers in the eighth inning.

Robert Ghatt was the winning moundsman, he allowing the Newportville hitters but three bingles. His battery mate at the start was Owen Vandine. In the sixth, Russell Rhodes relieved Vandine.

Keen, the losing pitcher, allowed eight hits. Receiving for Newportville was Trapp.

The meet's lone double victor was Bordentown's Norm Victor, Cadet captain, who won the 100 in 10.5 seconds and the shotput at 48 feet, 9½ inches. ## FIFTH WARD NINE WINS CLOSE GAME OVER LANGHORNE

BRISTOL SUBURBAN LEAGUE Schedule for Tomorrow Night ST. ANN'S - DEMOCRAT CLUB (Leedom's field) HIBERNIANS - VOLTZ-TEXACO (Memorial Field)

LANGHORNE, May 3—The Fifth Ward Sporting Club and the Langhorne Legion played a close ball game yesterday afternoon in a Suburban League tilt with the Fifth Warders gaining a one-run victory, 7-6, on Playwicky field.

A large crowd was on hand to see the season's opener and the first ball was tossed out by Earl Tomlinson, commander of the Suby Post.

A triple by "Johnny" Cordisco in the eighth inning gave the Warders the victory. Cordisco scored the winning run when Peter DeLuca bounced to Darrah and the runner beat the throw to the plate.

Langhorne used three pitchers in the tilt. "Jack" Tono was on the hill at the beginning and he was replaced by Bob Mitchell in the sixth. When Mitchell went out via a pinch-hitter, Manager Ira Smith sent in Joe Darrah.

The winning moundsman was "Smithers" Cordisco. Cordisco quelled a Langhorne rally in the sixth inning and blanked the Legionnaires the remainder of the game. Tony Cauti was the starting peakman and he did well until the sixth when Langhorne scored four markers. Cauti's control was bad and his mates made matters worse by erroring. During Cauti's tenure, he allowed but two hits, a triple by "Inky" Schneider, and single by Dick Lukens. He fanned nine batters.

Fifth Ward had eight safe smacks off the trio of Fifth Ward hurlers with Joe Cauti getting three out of four.

The league will remain idle tonight with playing resuming tomorrow evening with games on the Memorial Park and Leedom's fields.

"DRUNKOMETER" DATA

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (INS) — With six shots of whiskey inside him, the average American is definitely drunk and a menace at the wheel of an auto. This is the conclusion derived from use of "drunkometers" or similar devices for determining intoxication of persons involved in auto accidents. Six ounces of whiskey, or six bottles of beer, boosts the alcoholic content of the average person's blood to 15 per cent, the point beyond which there is no question about intoxication.
